H. Gallinger, Together With the Decision of the Board in Regard Thereto The fact that there were two mountains in New Hampshire, one in Merrimack County and the other in Carroll County, both bearing the name of Kearsarge, was first brought to the attention of the United States Geographic Board by Senator Gallinger, of New Hampshire, in the following letter: United States Senate, Washington, D. C., December 26, 1914. Gentlemen: The mountain in Merrimack County, N. H., which has been known by the name of Kearsarge from time immemorial, is near my summer home at Salisbury Heights, and I feel much interest in the name. Of late years a mountain in North Conway is also made to I ear the name of Kearsarge. As I recall the matter, the Conway mountain once went by the name of Peqnawket, and if I mistake not it was also known at one time by the name of Kiarsarge. but on that point I may be mistaken. I believe the mountains are about the same height. 3,400 feet or there-a outs. I will greatly appreciate a statement from your board as to the proper naming of those two mountains, for manifestly they ought not to I ear identically the same name. The United States Geographic Board, Washington, D. C. Upon receipt of the above letter the board undertook the collection of historical data relating to the matter, a compilation of which will be found in the following pages. About the Publisher...
