Excerpt: . . . of a properly fusible slag, is, I think, the point where any commercial importance of the process will have to show itself. IIR. A. I. Ross1: I have made something like 50 tons of that pig iron electrically by adding to the ores enough carbon to reduce the oxide of iron and not the titanac acid, and, under a moderate current, it can be effected exactly as you get it in a blast furnace without practically any titanium, not more than two or three hundredths of 1 per cent. (0. 02-0. 03), to possibly 0. 05 per cent. With proper currents I have also made alloys--ferro-titanium, containing 10 to 80 per cent. titanium (with or without carbon), by using either carbon or an aluminum bath as reducer. I have some specimens of such alloys, as also of curious electric furnace products. If the Society...
